it forms nice big clump and can have lots of spikes

Ascovandoritis Prapin

<https://www.orchid-tree.com/products/ascovandoritis-prapin>

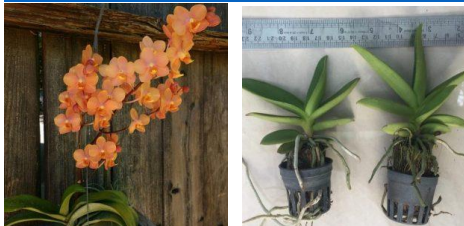

Description

Ascovandoritis Prapin is a hybrid of Ascocentrum Pralor and Doritis pulcherrima and produces lovely peach-orange toned flowers. The spikes are upright with a lot of flowers. A rare one to find! Grow them like Vanda orchids.

These orchids are all epiphytic. They do not like any potting medium. Vanda orchids must not be allowed to dry out entirely. Saturate the roots with water every time you water them, which means the roots should turn green and retain a drop of water at the tip. Watering of these Vandas must be done with care to prevent water from remaining in the crowns (top leaves), a condition that can cause crown rot.
